KARINA & RACQUEL DRIEGER

Arts enthusiasts

"There are many fun performing arts opportunities, including show choir, school musicals, and the Area Community Theater (ACT). Mitchell has an amazing community of talented people that you get really close to."

- Racquel

"I like that the community theater has plays for kids of all ages; not just adults."

- Karina

IOEL ALLEN

Lake and Bike Trails

"The trails around Lake Mitchell add real value to living in this community. They are fantastic for cross country skiing in the winter and for biking in the summer. The trails are not particularly difficult to ride (compared to the dangerous trails in more mountainous regions), and sections are fairly easy while other sections are more challenging. There are numerous obstacle courses constructed now and an excellent pump track. There are at least 15 miles of single-track trails total. Upper and lower loops extend most of the way around with numerous extensions. There's a lot to explore out there and folks are increasingly driving to Mitchell to ride our trails."

Mitchell offers our family so many amazing outdoor activities for outdoor fun and recreation. The Palace City Pedalers biking organization has created the most amazing trail system for not only mountain biking, but walking and running as well. It winds all over taking you on a great outdoor adventure around Lake Mitchell, with a pump track for challenging your bike navigation skills. If you haven't checked it out, you won't believe how good it is! Our children have outstanding facilities for their sports as well, including the Cadwell baseball complex, the hockey arena, Lakeview Golf Course, and a great park system just to name a few. The opportunities and the people of Mitchell can't be beat, and that's why our family loves it here!

JASON & ALLISON HOHN

Owners, Hohn's Carpet Cleaning / Jason Hohn's Lawn Care

"Mitchell is a great place to raise our family. Our three kids are involved in so many sports! Connor is in track, baseball, football and hockey; Jada plays on travel teams for volleyball and fast-pitch softball; and Abby is in year-round gymnastics. We love that they can participate in so much, and it's been a great way for our family to build friendships with other families."

EMERSYN GUENTHNER

Cheer and Gymnastics Athlete

One of the reasons I love living in Mitchell is that I have the opportunity to practice different sports. Two new gyms; Core Athletics and Palace City All-Stars, allow me to be a part of growing gymnastics and cheer teams. Our cheer team won a bid to the National D2 Summit in our first cheer season ever! It's pretty cool that my mom was able to start a cheer company and that my gymnastics coach was able to follow her dream and open a gymnastics gym.

BETSY RAYMOND

Library patron

"Our favorite place is the library – they bring in great presenters and have a lot of activities for kids throughout the summer. In this photo, we are with Dr. Lucie Poulet from the Kennedy Space Center, who talked about her participation in recent Mars analog missions and the challenges for growing plants in outer space."

WORLD'S ONLY CORN PALACE

AN ANNUAL ROYAL TRANSFORMATION

This beautiful, whimsical community icon has attracted the unusual, the notable and the road-weary to Mitchell's Main Street for more than 125 years. The World's Only Corn Palace undergoes a majestic transformation each year, when some 325,000 colorful ears of corn are painstakingly sliced and nailed into place. Throughout this process, which can only be described as corn-by-numbers, enormous murals appear, creating a larger-than-life work of folk art.

A local labor of love, the corn – 13 colors! – is grown and harvested by Mitchell farmers, and the murals are designed by students at Dakota Wesleyan University. It is a year-round process of removing, redesigning and recreating.

The Palace continually undergoes corn-struction projects to enhance the visitor experience inside and out.

MITCHELL PREHISTORIC INDIAN VILLAGE

AN ACTIVE ARCHEOLOGY SITE

The Prehistoric Indian Village on the shores of Lake Mitchell is the only active archaeological site in South Dakota that is open to the public. Inside the Thomsen Center Archeodome, summer visitors can watch archeology students and interns uncover clues about the people who lived here 1,000 years ago.

In the Boehnen Memorial Museum, a reconstructed earthen lodge and many recovered artifacts that have been recovered on site are on display. A video showcases ongoing excavations, and the Shoppe Antiquary features the work of Native American artists.

Outside, Audrey's Garden features the plants that villagers grew for food, medicines, ceremonies, dyes and other basic needs. A Native American sculpture, benches and interpretive signs make this a tranquil and informative setting.

For a listing of upcoming events throughout the year please visit our website.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, VISIT www.mitchellindianvillage.com

At Dakota Discovery on the campus of Dakota Wesleyan University, art and artifacts blend to tell the story of the rich culture of the Great Plains tribal residents and settlers alike.

Learn about the Native Americans and the Plains culture that flourished before the European settlers arrived. Explore the stories of hunting, fur trapping and trading, farming, ranching, mining and religious freedom. Learn about these early settlers, and the impact of the fur trade and the Gold rush.

Visit the Dimock Depot, the Farwell Church, and the Beckwith House, all on the grounds of the museum.

The McGovern Legacy Museum offers a unique look at the lives of George and Eleanor McGovern, two of Dakota Wesleyan University's most distinguished alumni.

The exhibit begins with the McGoverns' humble upbringing in rural South Dakota, continues through the challenges they faced during World War II as a young married couple trying to raise a family, and their years as leaders in the South Dakota Democratic Party. The 1972 presidential race is featured prominently, as is George McGovern's passionate commitment to fighting global hunger.

During the self-guided tour, visitors have the opportunity to view a variety of short films narrated by the late Sen. McGovern and including commentary from a variety of scholars and noted experts.

Locally owned sporting goods stores cater year-round to hunting, archery and fishing enthusiasts. In addition, Cabela's has an 80,000-square-foot retail outlet in Mitchell that is part store, part wildlife museum, and part tourist attraction. The aquarium features living lunkers such as trout, walleye and bass. The soaring back wall is a "mountain" adorned with realistic animal mounts, from bighorn sheep and mountain goats to mountain lions, bear, moose and elk. Many of the mounts were created by Hellman's Taxidermy, the renowned Mitchell taxidermy shop.

Local businesses roll out the red carpet each fall to welcome hunters as they make Mitchell their home away from home. Mitchell is also home to the largest membership Pheasants Forever Chapter in the country.

7 REASONS MITCHELL IS ONE OF A KIND

THE TOP 7 THINGS THAT MAKE MITCHELL UNIQUE AND SURPRISING

The World's Only Corn
Palace, a symbol of innovation featuring murals made of corn, native grains & grasses, updated annually.

- Two post-secondary educational institutions: Dakota Wesleyan University and Mitchell Technical College. Both have been recognized for outstanding academic programs, and the two collaborate on some majors for a technical/liberal arts combined degree.
- We're the home of champions.

 The DWU women's basketball team won the NAIA DII

 National Championship in 2018! Mitchell is also the home of former NBA star Mike Miller, and former Minnesota Viking Chad Greenway is from nearby Mount Vernon.
- Pheasants. And more pheasants... this is a hunter's mecca.

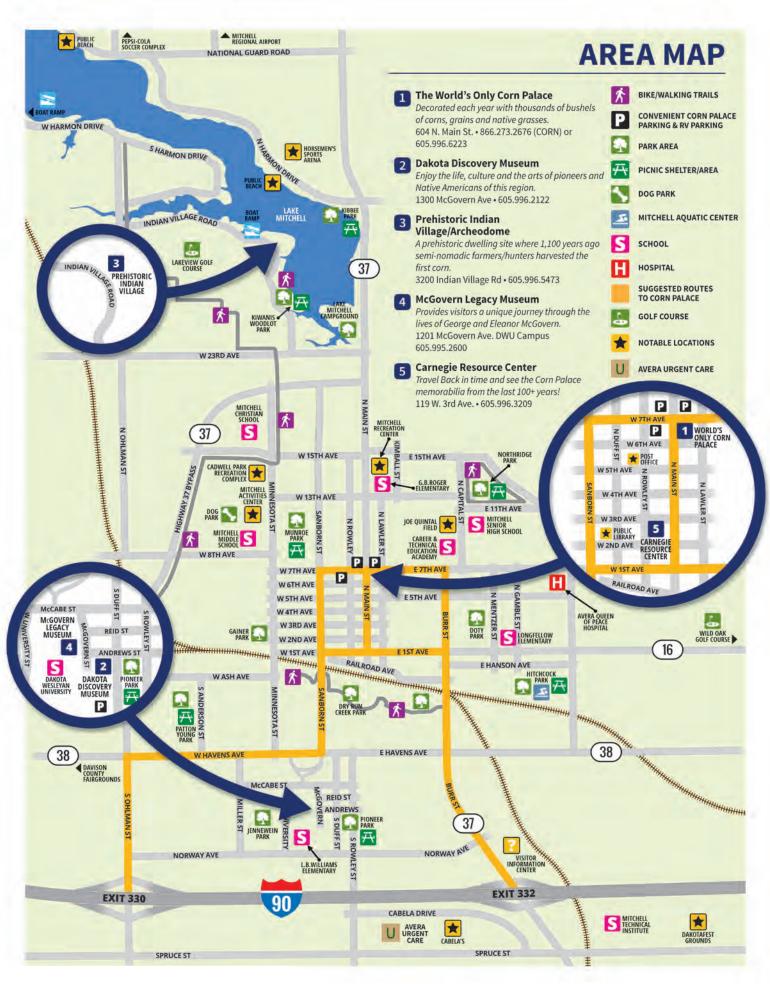

TOP 6 INVESTMENTS

THE TOP 6 WAYS WE INVEST IN OUR COMMUNITY

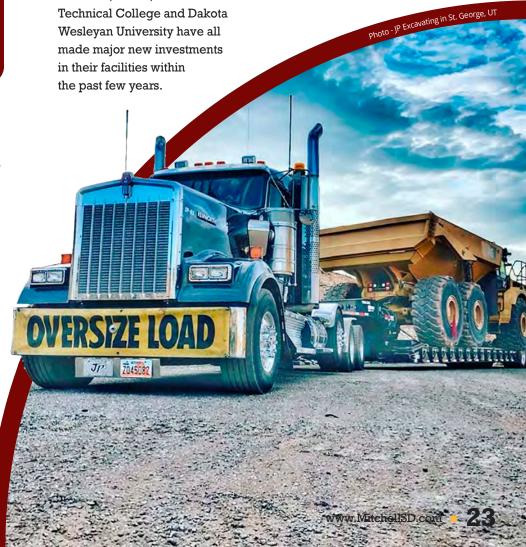

The Mitchell Community ■ Scholarship Fund offers scholarships to every graduate of Mitchell high schools who go on to post-secondary education.

- Recreational facilities are ■ important in Mitchell... in recent years, we have built an outdoor aquatic center, an indoor aquatic center, a second sheet of indoor ice and new soccer fields. You'll also find beautiful hiking and biking trails around Lake Mitchell, and a pump track. And when it comes to indoor fitness options, there's something for you, whether you want to work out as a family, exclusively with adults, in group classes or on an indoor track.
- We believe in the importance of the performing arts, and the Mitchell School District is home to a new 65,000-squarefoot performing arts center.

- Our Corn Palace has undergone a $4 million facelift, so our visitors and our citizens can enjoy this revitalized facility that we use for sporting events and concerts.
- Outside the Corn Palace, new green space has been developed to encourage gathering on summer evenings and throughout the year, and leaders are working on a new streetscape for the rest of Main Street.
- Our local companies are ■ growing - and hiring. Trail King Industries, Trail Eze, Performance Pet Products, Vantage Point Solutions, Avera, Mitchell Technical College and Dakota Wesleyan University have all made major new investments in their facilities within the past few years.
